

Jan Grue

Oliver
Oliver

2012
32 Pages

CHILDREN AND YOUNG ADULTS
PICTURE BOOK

PHOTO: ROLF M. AAGAARD

Illustrated by Eivind Gulliksen.

Flying dolphins, mechanical trousers powered by steam engines, double air balloons – there are plenty of ways to get around even if you can't walk. The problem arises when the balloons get stuck in the trees. And when the mechanical trousers emit so much smoke that it looks as though (Oliver?) lives in a chimney. As for the dolphins, they can't live in the bath tub forever, can they?

This is the first story about the world's first tame wheelchair.

Gyldendal Barn & Ungdom 2012

Jan Grue has studied film and linguistics and is currently pursuing a PhD in linguistics at the University of Oslo. His first book of fiction, the short story collection Everything Under Control, was published in 2010. This is his first book for children.

EIVIND GULLIKSEN (b. 1973) studied journalism at Oslo University College. He works as an illustrator.

RIGHTSHOLDER

Gyldendal Agency
P.O. Box 6860 St. Olavs plass
NO-0130 Oslo
Tel: +47 22 03 43 87 / 41 00
Fax: +47 22 03 41 05
anne.cathrine.eng@gyldendal.no
www.gyldendal.no

JAN GRUE OLIVER

