Nine years old Ada loves the life on the road together with the scruffy circus clowns Mikko and Rasmus. Ada has stayed with the clowns as long as she can remember. They all live in a motor caravan and travel around with their little circus.

Circus Ruckus is the most amusing and the best circus you can imagine. But one day, the idyll is shattered. The creepy circus director, Ratface, wants to take Circus Ruckus off the road. And in the town behind the rugged mountains the contest for the circus throne begins and also the search for of a mother that Ada does not remember. Towards the end of the novel we understand that it is Ratface who has prevented Ada's mother from being with her. Ada and the two clowns find the mother and participate in the important contest.

Circus Ruckus is a warm and humoristic story about the struggle between friends and foes. It is a book about friendship, love, and the longing for a mother.
