Book 1: Betrayed

How do you start over when you've lost everything? The ash elf Kha excels in magic in an underground world, - a world where the moon is worshipped and families are tight-knit. One night, Kha is stripped of everything they know, and forced to make their way to the surface for a chance at a new beginning. *How far out does the universe go?
Where does life come from?
How can the Earth be as small as a fly egg?
Who will keep us warm when the Sun is no more?*

A cat and two children sit on the steps of a house on the edge of the forest. They philosophise about the universe, about the big things and the small, and about what they can't see. Not to mention, they discover that there is a truly tremendous number of types of egg. On expeditions into the forest and to the fjord, both past and future, imagination and knowledge come thrillingly to life.

This poetry collection is beautifully illustrated by Susanna Kajermo.

"The aim of these poems is to awaken wonder about questions I have asked myself," says the author.

Powerful graphic novel about losing yourself

Jenny lives with her mum and her half-brother Odd. Her best friend Ann-Sofi has started smoking and hanging out with older boys. Jenny feels most at home when she's birdwatching in the woods. When Ann-Sofi starts to reject her, Jenny makes one foolish decision after another. Finally she ends up in a situation with an older boy that she can't find a way out of. Who is she after that? And how can she find herself again?

Through her writing and illustrations, Trude Tjensvold has created a powerful and challenging novel about assault and setting boundaries.

It's STONKINGLY good to meet Thea again after the holidays! Sitting in their regular spot in the tree, using words that only Eline and Thea understand and laughing so hard they almost tumble to the ground.

Back at Eline's house, her mum is still sad. She can't bear to do anything. At the very least, she can't face cleaning out Vilde's drawer, even though little sister Vilde isn't there anymore and no longer needs a drawer to keep her things in.

But how do you hide the fact that everything's wrong at home from your best friend? Is it possible to avoid telling the truth to the person who knows you best?

A warm, charming book about friendship, lies and things that are difficult to talk about.

What if your crush suddenly became the most famous person in the country?

Celebrity Crush is the first book in a trilogy by Kirsti Kristoffersen, who probably knows more about fan culture that almost anyone else in Norway.

Hanging out with Grandma at a remote campground was not exactly how Karoline had pictured spending her summer vacation, but here she is. On Instagram everyone else is obviously having a way better summer than her – including her increasingly distant best friend. But then she meets Mathias. Mathias is cute, funny and kind – and Karoline falls hard. Everything is perfect, but there's something a bit odd about Mathias. What is he hiding?

The scene is set for love, drama and a shock. First love, first kiss, and a campground.

For readers aged 11-16

'Hurray for teen love!' Co-reviewer Molly Nagel [aged 12] is in the target audience and sped through the book in record time. And was delighted. 'I can't wait to read the next two books. I give it a five out of six stars!'

Nettavisen, 5 out of 6 stars

'A feelgood holiday read for teenagers. (...) evokes the feeling that 'anything' can happen on summer holiday, regardless of where you are. (...) The book engages me and makes me almost – almost – nostalgic about that first all-consuming love.'
