This Isn't Us (Dette er ikke oss)

Young Adult Novel | Gyldendal Norsk Forlag | 2019 | 192 pages

A painfully realistic novel about young people who have to take care of themselves when their parents aren't able to be parents. It's a story about neglect, but one in which for once we see a support system that works.

It's almost a year since mum died. At home, Sanna has to look after dad, but all he wants to do is sleep and write. He almost never eats and he barely even looks at her. Things haven't been much better at school since her best friend stopped speaking to her.

Then Yousef joins the class. He shows her how to take pictures and to see the world in a whole new way. He, too, has more responsibility than a teenager should have, and Sanna has finally found someone who understands her. But can she trust him, or is he just like all the others?

Young Adult Novel (Vol. I in a trilogy) | Gyldendal | 2013 | 615 pages

Fifteen winters old, Hirka learns that she is not like everybody else. She is a human, a child of Odin – a creature from another world. She has no tail, and she cannot access the magic of the earth. According to legend she is also dangerous, a carrier of disease. Her situation becomes all the more precarious as she realizes that someone powerful wants to kill her to make sure her origin remains a secret. But there are worse things than Odin's kin. Hirka is not the only creature to have broken through the gates. This award-winning epic fantasy trilogy for young adults has pageturner qualities and a clear crossover appeal. Almost Autumn (Nærmere høst)

Young Adult Novel | 2012 | 245 pages

Ilse is 15 years old and lives at Biermannsgate 10 in the Grunerløkka district of Oslo. One afternoon while her parents are asleep, she sneaks out of the house in a thin summer dress. It is October and the cold autumn wind tugs at her dress as she walks down Toftes gate. But she doesn't feel the cold. Marianne Kaurin's debut novel is told by five different voices, including that of 15-year-old Ilse.
