

Brynjulf Jung Tjønn

Tomorrow We Will Sit In The Sun

I morgen skal vi sitte i solen

Genre: Children And Young Adults
Category: Novel
Year: 2009
Pages: 96

For ages 11–16 years.

This short story is about 11 year-old Oscar and his family - about his relationships with his father and grandfather - but first and foremost Oscar's relationship with his mother. A mother who can't be like normal mothers. A mother who can't really deal with her son, a mother who struggles, a mother who hits. A mother who fills her son with fear, with shame and with sadness.

A poetic, powerful and different kind of children's book.

Cappelen Damm 2009

Photo: Thomas Brun

Brynjulf Jung Tjønn debuted with his novel Eg kom for å elske (I Came to Love) in 2002. Jung Tjønn is a journalist with NRK. In 2001 he started the electronic press Jung Forlag, through which he operates the literary portal jung.no, as well as the journal Nordahl & eff. This is his debut as a children's author.

PREVIOUS TITLES

Lyden av noen som dør, 2008.
Eg kom for å elske, 2002.

Rightsholder

Cappelen Damm Agency
0055 Oslo
Phone: +47 21 61 73 00
foreignrights@cappelendamm.no
www.cappelendamm.no