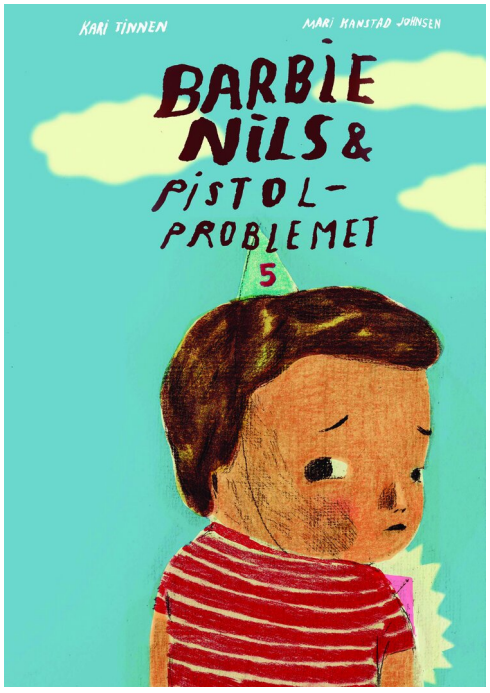
It is Nils's birthday! And he knows just what he wants for his birthday. Why, the nicest Barbie doll in the world, of course!

But why does dad make shooting sounds when they go to the toy store? Wasn't the whole idea to get Nils what he wanted? And why does he grow as stiff as a flagpole when he opens his mouth to say what he wants?

Illustrated by Mari Kanstad Johnsen.



Kari Tinnen (b. 1975) has written scripts for TV, hosted a TV show for NRK (the Norwegian Broadcasting Corporation) and spent one third of her life with Mummy, one third with Daddy and one third with other nice people.
In 2010, she published her first book for children, Ulla Here And There (Ulla hit og dit).

Mari Kanstad Johnsen (b.1981) is a freelance artist/illustrator based in Oslo. She holds a BA-degree from KHIO in Oslo and a MA-degree from Konstfack in Stockholm. Barbiedoll Nils and the Gun Problem was her first children's book. Helge Torvund is one of Norway's best known poets. He has published over two dozen collections of poetry, along with children's books, essays, and translations. Torvund deals with the intimate: landscape as it relates to the individual, relationships of family members and friends, small things in a wide world. His tone ranges from the idyllic and magical through the down to earth and dystopic, always sensuous, often surprising.

Reviewer Eric Lodén points out his gift of "uniting the timeless with the everyday, the global with the local." Torvund's work has met with both critical and popular acclaim and he is the recipient of several literary prizes.

Two rabbits are digging a tunnel under a busy road. They want to cross over to the other side, where the grass is fresh and green. They are sweethearts. She likes to help him. He is the one who wants to dig the tunnel, she would rather run across the road or stay where they are. But the cars are running very fast, and their friends the cat and the squirrel have not made it across the road.

"In the darkness underground they are alone.
The long ears move.
They stop. Listen.
The whiskers vibrate.
The front legs are like drumsticks.
They dig a path underground.
The two of them. Together."

PICTURE BOOK

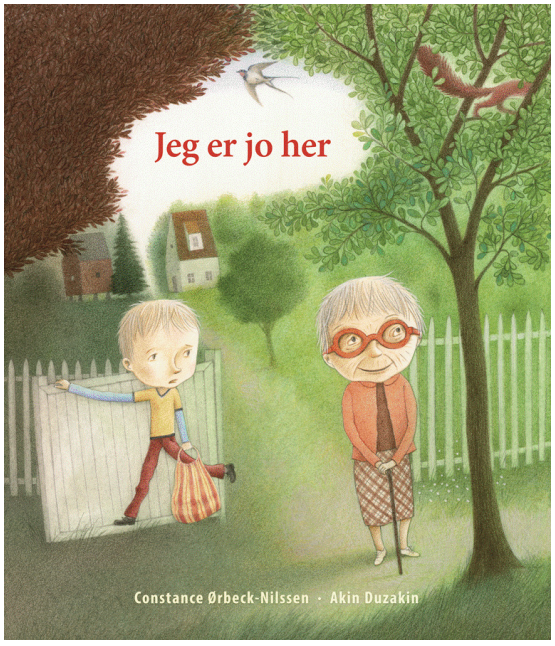
I'm Right Here
Jeg er jo her

Magikon 2011
28 Pages

While walking in the park with his grandmother, William is asking her if she ever gets afraid. She does, but not for the reasons that he thinks. William is afraid of scary dogs, sharks and big fires. Granny is afraid of losing all the beautiful things in her life that she loves – the sight of a squirrel in a tree, the birds nesting, the flowers blossoming. Through their conversation she puts more emphasis on the joy of living, than of the fear of dying.

This is a picture book that draws attention to the importance and pleasure of learning to know the elder persons in the family – a true gift for grandparents to read for their grandchildren!

Illustrated by Akin Duzakin.



'Although the theme of the book is fear, this book is a warm depiction of the small pleasures in life that are so important to us, and of the good relationship between Wilhelm and his Granny. The subtle and beautiful illustrations by Akin Duzakin add an extra warmth to the story.'

A super hero for the underdog!

As long as the sun is up, Rune is merely Rune, but come night he transforms himself into Brown – a totally fearless super hero. Armed to the hilt with brushes and brown paint he sneaks out of the house. Rune can hardly be blamed if Brown chooses to paint the big bullies' bikes brown, can he?

Brown is a book about friendship, courage and retaliation. It is also a book about missing one's grandfather and just how wrong things can go when your super hero powers run out.

Illustrated by Øyvind Torseter.

'In this enourmously charming book we meet three little superheroes, each equipped with a bucket of paint ... Øyvind Torseter's beautiful drawings show us what it's like to feel small and out of place in a big world. They also evoke the warmth of the friendship between the children ... Warmly recommended!'

The follow-up to Nordic Council Prize-winning Brown/i>!

A new girl has moved into the old bakery. Atle finds her exciting. He thinks that if only he borrows the chairman's prize-winning hen and then pretends that he has found it, he is sure to get into the newspaper, and the new girl will be impressed and like him.

It is worth a try.

But when the attempt does not go completely according to plan, everything suddenly becomes a bit tricky. Atle needs help from the super hero Black, and his faithful companions Brown and Blue. Brown and Blue do not completely understand what has happened, or what they are involved in, but neither does Atle, really. Everything is ready for action and all sorts of complications.

Illustrated by Øyvind Torseter.

Black is the sequel to the internationally acclaimed Brown.
The last book in the trilogy, Blue, will be published in 2016/2017.

'The dynamics between the verbal and visual story is good ... The prose is practically unblemished. And it is more open, more boldly unresolved.'

Anna Fiske

Hello Earth!

Hallo Jorda!

Genre: Children
Category: Picture Book (Vol. I in a series)
Publisher: Cappelen Damm
Year: 2007
Pages: 40
ISBN: 9788202272326

Hello Earth! is a search and find book. We follow six people on Earth for 16 hours. The reader can also find a lot of other things that happen or change from one hour to the next. For example, the small red car that's always going the wrong way, or the giraffe that's eating nearly all the leaves on the tree, and the lady who's knitting a really long scarf; all these can be found in the book.

The pictures are alive with details, and this is a book that you can read over and over again and still find something new. This is a lovely picture book for both children and adults.

Other titles in the series are:
Hello City! (2010)
Hello Crayon! (2011)
Hello Planet! (2012)
Hello Down There! (2014)
Hello Sea! (2016 - English sample translation available)
Hello Forest! (2017)

'Anna Fiske gives us a children's book that makes us think in a circle (...) Hello Earth! is simply ingenious as well as original.'

Oppland Areiderblad

'This is the kind of book that both children and adults enjoy reading. Children are often better than adults at finding the tiny details and this book is a treasure trove of details. (...) Anna Fiske's world is filled with humorous characters and surprises, and the drawings are extremely charming.'

Aftenposten

Anna Fiske is a Swedish-born illustrator, author and cartoonist. Fiske's playful and distinctive style, both literary and pictorial, has earned her numerous awards and honours for her works. Several of her books have been published with great success in many countries.

CHILDREN AND YOUNG ADULTS
PICTURE BOOK (VOL. II IN A SERIES)

Hungry
Sulten

Magikon 2015
40 Pages

Hungry is a sequel to The Voyage, which received great reviews, and has been translated to several languages. In The Voyage a small duck finds itself in a place full of unusual creatures who speak an unfamiliar language. Eventually, it meets an animal whose big feet are a bit like its own. And with a friend by its side, the small duck soon can feel at home.

In Hungry we meet the same protagonist, a duck living a quiet life in the woods. After playing with her friends, she takes a break to enjoy a delicious lunch. But suddenly a group of hungry ants intervene in her lunch break. They want her to share some of her very tasty and precious food. As an animal fable this story might have a wide interpretation. The theme is about sharing, but it is up to the reader whether it is about sharing candies or the world's resources.

Illustrated by Camilla Engman.

Praise for The Voyage:
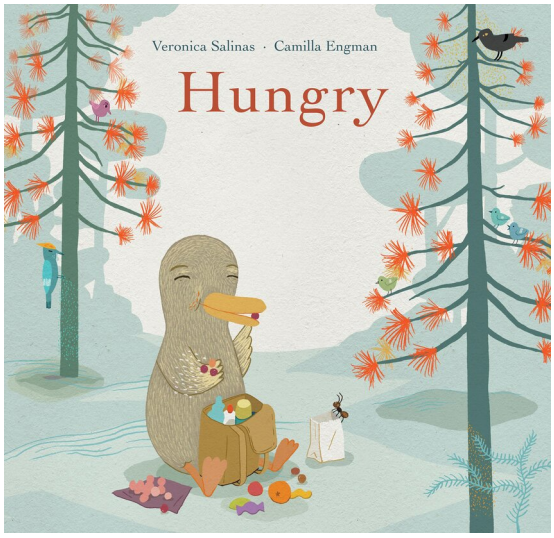
"The wit and inventiveness of the artwork make this voyage memorable."
- New York Times



Veronica Salinas was born in Argentina, and is now an author, dramatist and actor living in Norway. She studied theatre and Portuguese in Buenos Aires, and she holds a master's degree in Spanish and Portuguese literature from the University of Oslo. Hungry is her second children's book.

English sample translation available

In a zoo, the animals have gotten hold of a woman's fashion magazine. They read the beauty pages. Suddenly the elephant try to get rid of her wrinkles, the panda doesn't want the shadows around his eyes and the snake is sad to read that snakeskin is out of fashion. After having battled with their 'troubles' for a while, they learn from a child that they were actually better liked as their natural selves.

This is a fun fable about humans' strive towards unattainable beauty ideals.

The Garmann Series

Garmann-serien

Genre: Children And Young Adults
Category: Picture Book Series
Publisher: Cappelen Damm
Year: 2006-2010
Pages: Approx. 50

Garmann's Summer (Garmanns sommer, 2006]
Summer is nearly over and Garmann is going to start school. Garmann is dreading it, and he tries to find out if adults dread doing things, too, while he's seeing if he's got a loose tooth. Garmann thinks about life and death, the present and the future. "What do you want to be when you grow up?" Aunt Augusta whispers to him. "A sword-swallower," Garmann answers.
Winner of the 2007 BolognaRagazzi Award, the 2009 Mildred L. Batchelder Award, announced by the Amercian Library Association, and the French Prix Sorciere for best album of the year 2008

Garmann's Street (Garmanns gate, 2008]
Garmann has now started at school and the world seems even more unsafe. 'Are you a wimp? Light it!' says the horrible Rolf to Garmann. The grass fire at the stamp man's house is put out and Garmann realises that friendships are made when you least expect it.
Winner of the Nordic Association of School Librarians Children's Literature prize in 2009

Garmann's Secret (Garmanns hemmelighet, 2010]
Garmann thinks about the twins, Hanne and Johanne, how similar they are and yet so different. Hanne is nasty and teases the others. Johanne is nice and exciting to be with. She tells Garmann about a secret place that only the two of them share, a secret forest hideaway that they play in together. They draw with their fingers on each other's backs, and Johanne confides that she sleeps with the light on. For a moment, time stands still. With sensitivity, Stian Hole portrays first love.
Winner of the 2010 Brage Award

About Garmann's Summer:
'Fantastic illustrations and a warm story about approaching a change in life.'

Dagsavisen

'Let it be said straight away: this is a lovely book! It feels good to hold it, it is beautiful to look at, and the story touches your heart.'

Drammens Tidende

About Garmann's Street:
'Still world class (...) So consistent it is time to start talking about a Hole universe of its own.'

Anna's Heaven
Annas himmel

Cappelen Damm 2013
48 Pages

On a day in which everything aches and spikes fall from the skies, Anna turns the world on its head. She takes her daddy on a fantastic journey all the way to the bottom of the sky where the invisible ones live. Daddy is careworn and quiet, and Anna helps both herself and her daddy through the most difficult of days.
Anna's Heaven is an exceptionally beautiful book about overcoming grief, succeeding in this without becoming an overly sad or sentimental tale.
Stian Hole is one of our foremost picture book artists, and Anna's Heaven is a work of art, both in terms of text and illustrations.

Praise:
'Norway's Stian Hole does it once more. He has written and illustrated a philosophical and seductive picture book for children of all ages... Much has been written about death in books for children. But no one writes and creates picture books like Hole does. Also, about death. ... Hope is there on every page. Both in words and images.'
Nordjyske Stiftstidende – Six out of six

A Fish for Luna

En fisk til Luna

Genre: Children And Young Adults
Category: Picture Book
Publisher: Gyldendal
Year: 2014
Pages: 40
ISBN: 9788205462687
Full English translation available.

Luna can't sleep. She opens her window and peeks out. There is something out there. Something is gliding slowly between the houses. Is it a balloon? A flying fish? Luna's parents say it is ugly and that she can't keep it, so Luna decides to help it back home. But it won't say where home is. All it says is "Ay", "Yue", "Kuu", "Maan", "Tsuki", "Karoo" and "Kamar". And it says "Luna".

With great bravery Lisa Aisato explores life's big issues and presents an original and fresh take on subjects as human as loneliness and hope. Always firmly anchored in a child perspective, with a child's intensity of sensation. In this case personified in the shape of a lonesome fish. A Fish for Luna is a unique and beautiful picture book tale.

Shortlisted for the Brage Prize 2014, the Ministry of Culture's Literature Prize 2014 (Best Children's and Young Adults Book) and the Book Blogger's Prize 2014.

'A beautiful picture book ... Lisa Aisato confirms that she most definitely is among the most interesting picture book artists in Norway.'

Life and I. A Story About Death

Jeg er Døden

Genre: Children and Young Adults
Category: Picture Book
Publisher: Magikon
Year: 2015
Pages: 48
English edition available

Rosy-cheeked and wrapped in blue, with a flower in her hair. Death rides a pink binke. Death, a green-eyed little girl in this pastel world visits small animals with soft fur and big animals with sharp theeth. She lingers with a kindly grand-mother as they knit one last scarft together. She wanders through surroundings of gentle beauty and she tells us who she is.

For parents of children facing the loss of a family member, a friend, or a pet, this book finds words to express what is often so difficult to explain. It ends with such a feeling of uplift and acceptance that readers of any age will turn the last page with a smile and a tear.

Author Elisabeth Helland Larsen and illustrator Marine Schneider weave a tapestry out of direct, poetic words and hand-drawn pictures to give voice to emotions that are moving, real, and most of all, honest.

Illustrations by Marine Schneider.

'Families in mourning will find "I Am Death" quietly reassuring when trying to explain why living beings expire. Marine Schneider's pencil illustrations are delicate yet surprisingly firm–Death may be imagined as a little girl, but she is unwavering.

Literary Features Syndicate

'If it is possible for a book to be both lovely and haunting, this is the one.'

CHILDREN AND YOUNG ADULTS
YOUNG ADULT NOVEL

Moment of Honesty
Ærlighetsminuttet

Aschehoug 2005

English sample translation available

When she is seventeen, Frida is diagnosed with a serious eye disease. Desperate, her mind reeling, she spends the evening of the day she receives this devastating news walking aimlessly about the streets of Oslo. Driven by an intense desire to see the world before blindness overcomes her, she decides to travel. To see the world's beauty – before it is too late.

In Florence she meets Jakob, who, like herself, is Norwegian. A self-proclaimed art-geek, he is in Florence to write an article for a Norwegian youth magazine.

Frida accompanies Jakob on his travels and, as their relationship develops, Jakob finds himself accompanying her – to show her the paintings he is studying while she can still see them; and to share her company. From the moment they set out together, the narrative so evolves as to braid ever more closely art history and the couple's odyssey.
We follow the deterioration of Frida's condition much as one follows the plot of a thriller. She is by no means assured that the treatment she has been prescribed is working; nor does she always remember to take her pills and potions as regularly as she should. At the last moment she returns to Oslo, where she enters hospital and is operated on.

The book is beautifully illustrated by reproductions of all the 33 paintings the two teenagers admire throughout their journey.

'Conveys art history on a high level, but in a simple form... [the love story] is so exciting and so beautifully described that even I, who am well past my teens, get a tickling sensation in my stomach.'

NOVEL (VOL. 1 IN A SERIES)

The Art Detective Series: The Venice Mystery
Kunstdetektivene: Veneziamysteriet

Aschehoug 2000
123 Pages
Full English sample translation available

In the hotel where David and his family are staying, they meet a strange, elderly couple. There is something mysterious about them - and about all of Venice, for that matter. It is carnival time, and many people are wearing weird masks, and some are harboring sinister plans...
This is the first book in the popular Art Detective-series, which combines thrilling reads with art and geography in an interesting and fun way. The 16th book in the series was recently published and all books are amusingly illustrated by Trond Bredesen.

CHILDREN AND YOUNG ADULTS
YOUNG ADULT NOVEL (VOL. I IN A SERIES)

Hey, It's Me!
Hei, det er meg!

Omnipax 2010
284 Pages
English sample translation available

Please don't leave me here alone... PS: Everything I'm about to tell you – is 110% true!!!
In this super secret diary (which is 110% true), 12-year-old Oda spills the beans about life in Crooked Hill, where she lives on a small, winding street with wooden houses, wedged between a forest valley and a fjord, somewhere in Norway. Oda has a mega annoying little sister, Ellie. Ida's best friend in the whole wide world, Helen, lives just up the street. Unfortunately, so does Helen's nerdy older brother, Simon.
Pondering over her "completely normal life" in a small community, no thought or idea is too small or too big for Ida. When she isn't falling in love with famous authors, she is spying on mysterious neighbors with Helen, or getting into fights with stupid, horrid Simon. But when a snowball fight goes a bit too far, Oda is suddenly the world's loneliest person. How can she make it all go back to the way it used to be?

Illustrated by the author, in black and white.

"Super-cool book for those over ten."
Dagbladet

'Nina Grøntvedt writes as if she was twelve years old. In this case, it is a great compliment.'

CHILDREN AND YOUNG ADULTS
HORROR NOVEL

Darlah - 172 Hours on the Moon
Darlah – 172 timer på månen

Cappelen Damm 2008
384 Pages
English edition available

NASA holds a historic lottery for young people. The prize is a trip to the moon. All three winners experience unexplainable events. And in a nursing home in Miami there is a man who was once in the American military. He can barely remember his own name. But he is certain that a new expedition to the moon could mean the end of everything...

Darlah – 172 Hours on the Moon is Johan Harstad's first novel for young adults. It earned him the prestigious Brage Prize 2008. In November 2014 an expert jury chose it as the best Norwegian book for young adults of all times.

Johan Harstad (b. 1979) made his debut 21 years old, with a contribution to the anthology Postboks 6860 in 2000, releasing his first collection of prose works, From here on you just get older, in 2001. This was followed by a collection of short stories, Ambulance, in 2002 received with critical acclaim.
In 2005 he published his first novel, Buzz Aldrin, what happened to you in all the confusion?, which was later adapted into a TV-series. Another novel Hässelby, followed in 2007. In 2009 Johan Harstad was employed as the first house play write at Norway's Nationaltheatret. He has published two volumes of plays, BSIDES, 2008 and Etc., 2010. Translation rights to his books have been sold to 22 countries.

An international award-winning, best-selling fantasy series from Norway, built on a norse foundation, with over a third of a million books sold worldwide. Winner and nominee of numerious awards in several countries, and the first fantasy ever to be nominated for the prestigious Norwegian Booksellers' Prize.

There are no prophecies, no dragons, and no magic swords. There is magic, to be sure, but you won't find that word in the book. The protagonist is a resourceful, female outcast, living with a savage Northerner who deals drugs. She is not 'chosen', and has no special powers. In fact, what sets her apart is the terrifying fact that she lacks the powers that everyone else has.

The trilogy consists of Odin's Child, (Odinsbarn, 2013) The Rot (Råta, 2014) and The Might (Evna, 2015).

Winner of the Fabel Award (Fabelprisen) 2014, ARK Bookseller's Book of the Year Award 2015 and also on IBBY Norway's Honour List 2016.

About Odin's Child:
'The book offers nerve-wracking suspense and convincing characters.'

VG

'Very good ... An impressive work running at steady pace towards a spectacular conclusion.'

Dagbladet

'Debut author Siri Pettersen exhibits talent way beyond average in the fantasy genre, and has written a vivid, exciting and great story.'

Adresseavisen

Siri Pettersen was born in Finnsnes, a small town in the north of Norway. She is a lifelong escapist, designer, illustrator, comic creator, webdesigner and writer. Siri Pettersen has received The Sproing Award, for promotion and work to increase the interest for comics in Norway. Today she spends all her time to the fantasy literature and writing.
